

Kicking Cancer's Ass ~ Arm yourself

Politicians and self-annointed experts from various fields may do everything they can to wrestle away your money and your material clout but only you can allow them to take control of your mind, your heart and your soul.

Arm yourself with information and those who suppress information will no longer be in charge of your health. Arm yourself with knowledge from the information you accumulate and your own choices and your own ability to help yourself and help others becomes enriched and enhanced in ways that money-driven power mongers could never imagine nor understand. Arm yourself with love, and strengthen that love with the discovery of knowledge and truth about cancer, and cancer itself will be sent reeling into the ropes of defeat.

Don't allow anyone to think they can or they have a right to make any law to dissuade you from finding the truth about cancer or sickness or the way in which the medical establishment itself teaches and learns and ignores and suppresses information regarding healing. Don't be scared into being afraid of your own body, your own mind and your own soul. No one on this earth owns you, regardless of what their letterhead looks like or says at the top, no matter how many certificates or degrees they hold, no matter how many years in Congress they have, no matter how powerful they think they are. None of us in this world are obligated to enslave our thoughts, our dreams and our faith to the bidding of ignorant and selfish people in "high" places. The highest place of power for any human being is in the deepest recesses and portions of our own individual hearts.

I wish I lived in a world where such a preamble would be rendered unnecessary. Unfortunately we've all been bred and indoctrinated to act as though we are not only supposed to be afraid of cancer, but we are even supposed to be afraid to talk about healing and destroying cancer. There are actually morons writing laws telling people to keep their mouths shut and just let the experts treat you and your children the way they see fit.

Doctors, hospitals, pharmaceutical companies and medical schools, and wealthy "philanthropists" who control the flow of money that goes into these entities as well as into the pockets of lawmakers, are free to advertise and make all the false claims they want about healing. But God bless the herbalist or "alternative" practitioner who vows to be able to cure someone of an affliction. It has become illegal for them to speak freely. And in the land of the free, the First Amendment has been circumvented where health is concerned because we have all sat back and watched money become a more important guiding force in our lives than love and truth.

But here's a dirty little secret your local investigative reporter trophy winners would never reveal: The shelves of independent bookstores, the pages of little publicized catalogs and the websites of compassionate free-thinkers are lined with references and sources for you to use as bypass routes around the scary establishment tollroads of healing.

For those who care it is always somehow tougher, it seems, to get their word out and gain "acceptance." But the inherent rewards are worth it because hearts and souls that answer to the call of love need never worry about God making evaluations based on financial status, prestige and empty human glory.

Some who have been following this series on kicking cancer's ass may note a familiarity with some of the titles given below. Don't be afraid of repetition when the repetition involves positive energy. Rather, please begin to question the repetition so widely dealt and readily accepted when the energy and the waves are loaded and weighted with constant torrents of fear and confusion. Love never loses, it only patiently awaits us to catch up and become aware of its wonder and its indomitable power.

As with last month's recommendations, I urge all readers interested in waging war against cancer to arm themselves with love ~ cancer's worst nightmare ~ and also with backup support from the following books:

The Serpent on the Staff: The Unhealthy Politics of the American Medical Association, by Howard Wolinsky & Tom Brune, G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1994 ~ The title is self-explanatory but a few reviews never hurt to entice people who are in constant need of a review before they can open their own minds to think for themselves.

"The Serpent on the Staff is a valuable starting point for readers who want an unflinching look at the AMA." - The Wall Street Journal.

"Readers... will come away more savvy health consumers, never again to believe that the AMA is a kindly organization run by well-intentioned clones of Dr. Welby." - The New York Times Book Review.

"The authors pull so many skeletons out of the AMA closet that even the humongous new AMA headquarters building hasn't enough space to encrypt them all." - Chicago Sun-Times.

"Valuable reading for physicians who would like to see how the AMA has dealt with the legislative process over the years." - The New England Journal of Medicine.

20th in a series on cancer and health and healing

"The Serpent on the Staff exposes how the AMA has often worked against the best interests of Americans' health. It's about time the truth be known." - Charles B. Inlander, President, People's Medical Society.

Suppressed Inventions & Other Discoveries: Revealing the World's Greatest Secrets of Science and Medicine, by Jonathan Eisen, Avery Publishing Group, 1999 ~

Includes an astonishing section on the suppression of alternative medical therapies. Among the topics are:

"The Alzheimer's Cover-Up," "Vaccinations: Adverse Reactions Covered Up?," "AIDS and Ebola: Where Did They Really Come From?," "Polio Vaccines and the Origin of AIDS," "Oxygen Therapies, The Virus Destroyers," "The FDA," "Harry Hoxsey," "Royal Raymond Rife and the Cancer Cure That Worked!," "The Persecution and Trial of Gaston Naessens," and "Dr. Max Gerson's Nutritional Therapy for Cancer and Other Diseases."

Alternative Medicine: The Definitive Guide, by The Burton Goldberg Group, Future Medicine Publishing, Inc., 1994 ~ A 1,000-page tour de force of alternative healing, including references to past cancer healers and present cancer clinics that reach well beyond the mainstream and deep into solutions.

Alternative Healing: The Complete A-Z Guide to Over 160 Different Alternative Therapies, by Mark Kastner and Hugh Burroughs, Halcyon Publishing, 1993 ~ Summarizes alternative approaches, options and solutions to cancer from ancient times to the latest developments.

Secrets of the Sacred White Buffalo: Native American Healing Remedies, Rites & Rituals, by Gary Null, Prentice Hall, 1998 ~ One of many Native American angles on healing, including spiritual and attitudinal aspects that were in existence long before modern day people became self-appointed discoverers of the field. Also ties in nature and herbalism and use of medicinal plants mentioned previously in this series such as pau d'arco, red clover, and the ingredients found in Rene Caisse's Essiac formula.

School of Natural Healing: The Reference Volume on Herbal Therapy for the Teacher, Student or Practitioner, 20th Anniversary Edition, by Dr. John R. Christopher, Christopher Publications, 1996 ~ A compendium of healing (See Cancer, page 7)

In previous segments:

Especially for those who have been told to go home and die by self-anointed omnipotent medical experts, or who have loved ones being told there is no hope to become healthy again, Active Voice Publisher Ron McEntee began his series on cancer and health and healing.

"...One thing I do believe with all my heart is that fear is itself afraid of love. Fear will run from love because it will be destroyed by it. And the first step of being destroyed by cancer is to allow fear to pervade rather than love, and to allow hope to be exterminated rather than nurtured so that it can blossom and grow and bear fruit and heal..."

Part Two of "Kicking Cancer's Ass" included McEntee's emphasis on "The power within" along with a story concerning the history of Essiac called "Ojibwa Herbal Tea: Indian myth or healing remedy?"

In Part Three, "Christine's story" was told, a powerful first-person narrative detailing one teenager's bout with cancer, her subsequent victory, and her message to fellow cancer fighters.

In Part Four, "Let the healing begin," McEntee re-aired his previously published reference guide, "Here's to Your Health," for those wishing to begin a self-study into little publicized natural medicinal methods. Reference contacts were shared as well as an urge for people, especially in matters of health and healing, to "always believe in yourself. Believe in your own abilities to love and to be loved, to care and to be cared for, and to search for and draw your own judgements about 'the truth.'" Part Five featured "Caring about curing cancer," a response to this series from an Active Voice reader.

Part Six focused on a "miracle" herb called pau d'arco and its abilities and history of fighting cancer.

Part Seven talked about media and medical monopolies and the dangerous interplay between the two. It also mentioned the names of herbalist Dr. John R. Christopher, scientist Royal Raymond Rife, and "unqualified" healer Harry Hoxsey, whose suppressed healing success stories should and shall be told.

Part Eight talked again of Christopher and offered feedback from readers on pau d'arco and suppressed healing methods.

In Part Nine, Bob Houchins of Port Charlotte, Florida narrated the story of Royal Raymond Rife, "one of the most fascinating and horrifying tales ever told." Rife was an American scientist who discovered a method and created an instrument that cured cancer in the 1930s. His reward was similar to that given to anyone who attempts to put genuine healing and caring over money and power. Both he and his answers to the cancer problem were driven underground.

Part Ten highlighted and urged self studies of herbal healers Dr. John R. Christopher and Dr. Richard Schulze and the Sam Biser Save Your Life Herbal

Video Collection

Part Eleven told the amazing story of Harry Hoxsey, who took a handed-down herbal remedy and opened up his first cancer clinic in Illinois in 1924. By the 1950s Hoxsey had clinics in 17 states, but by 1963 the medical establishment and friends in government finally forced him to take his services to Mexico, where Americans who know about it still journey to rid themselves of cancer.

Part Twelve covered "The Legacy of Edgar Cayce." Emphasis was placed on "the father of holistic medicine's mind/body/spirit" philosophies and information was shared about related Cayce readings, Cayce health products, and Cayce's Association of Research and Enlightenment, Inc.

Part Thirteen, a submission from an Active Voice reader, was a discussion and testimonial involving "Natural Hygiene," also referred to as "Life Science," a health system that teaches how to live in harmony with nature and our biological makeup.

Part Fourteen offered testimony from a former officer of Cancer Victims Anonymous and railed against the stranglehold the AMA and FDA and others have upon consumer choices in medicine.

Part Fifteen, written by long-time Active Voice reader and medical researcher Thomas W. Lippitt, covered "The battles beyond 'the war': A history of suppressed cures & healings."

Part Sixteen told the story of German-born doctor Max Gerson's method's of successfully curing cancer, as well as his battle against dictators ~ a famous one in Europe named Hitler and a secret one in America still thriving today.

Part Seventeen introduced the latest "alternative" in cancer therapies. Naturopath Thomas W. Lippitt discussed coral calcium and ellagic acid and offered numerous references for readers to research on their own.

In Part Eighteen Thomas W. Lippitt offered the latest from his own cancer curing research library in an article titled "Oxygen and Organic Calcium." Lippitt also shared an adjoining health piece called "The vaccination epidemic."

Part Nineteen, "The truth will set you free," recommended three books for readers interested in arming themselves with information to help them reach their own conclusions about politics, cancer and healing.

Future segments will cover more censored healers and suppressed information. Also included here will be your stories, comments and questions. Please take part and join a genuine effort to let the healing begin.

information from one of the most successful and most suppressed mass-herbalists this country has ever produced.

Again, as with last month's segment

A Revolutionary Idea!

Dr. Benjamin Rush, co-signer of the Declaration of Independence and Revolutionary War hero, issued an astounding prophesy over 200 years ago:

"Unless we put medical freedom into the Constitution, the time will come when medicine will organize itself into an undercover dictatorship. To restrict the art of healing to one class of men and deny equal privileges to others will constitute the Bastille of medical science. All such laws are un-American and despotic."

Today while we sleep the medical "dictatorship" in Rush's vision thrives. Politicians and "the people" are debating loudly over health care coverage and methods and strategies involved, but no one is getting to the root of the problem. And that root is in our hearts, where fear has overtaken love, and where truth has given way to deception and people are too often putting their hopes and dreams and very lives into the hands of establishments and self-anointed gods who do more punishing than curing.

Why are we cheering politicians promising prescriptions?

Al Gore and George W. Bush, painted by the centralized media as our only two choices in the most recent presidential election, were not surprisingly vying for votes by promising to "give" the people something they don't need; something the people should be in charge of themselves; yet still something the blind masses won't stop whooping and clapping about. Those who wish to still think for themselves and also control their own health should do some checking up on prescription pills, the drug industry, and interaction between the powerful in medicine, the media and the government. Simply start by studying books which list the endless side effects and dangerous interactions of the very prescription drugs your favorite politicians would like to let you buy for others with your money. It's hard to believe 'We the People' have become this dumb. In essence we are allowing questionably financed political party puppets to promise to allow us to poison one another with our own tax dollars. And "watchdogs" from "the free press" lie eerily silent.

~ Ron McEntee, Publisher

In restaurants, coffee shops, taverns and salons; in the workplace and halls of higher learning, the conversations go on amongst "We the People." We wonder who tells the truth anymore, who we can trust, and who performs in their profession because they care or because they seek riches and prestige. Month after month for 13 years this newspaper has been sounding the voice of "the people" like no other newspaper in existence, bringing unadorned, unedited free and open communication. The survival of Active Voice, like the survival of the ideals and principles this country was founded on, depends upon the vigilance, intelligence, awareness and support of "the people." Make a statement beyond words. Get off your ass. Show your support. Use the order blank on page eight of The Weekly Farce section and subscribe now.
